Transferring to ASU
Arizona State University welcomes and values the diversity and life experiences of transfer students. We offer hundreds of degree programs and a comprehensive, responsive network of academic, financial and social opportunities designed for the success of all students.

ASU has a large population of transfer students, meaning you’ll have many classmates who share your experience of transitioning to the university.

General admission requirements

A transfer applicant is a student who has attended one or more colleges or universities and has completed 12 or more transferable credits post-high school. Students with 11 or fewer transferable credits are considered incoming freshmen. To transfer to ASU, you must meet one of the following requirements:

Transfer students with 12 or more transferable credits must have a minimum 2.50 cumulative GPA. Transfer students with 12 – 23 transferable credits must also meet freshman aptitude requirements.

Students who have earned an associate degree from a regionally accredited higher education institution must have a minimum 2.00 cumulative GPA (residents) or a 2.50 cumulative GPA (nonresidents).

Some majors have higher admission requirements. To find the requirements for your specific program, please visit ASU’s Degree Search.

ASU accepts college-level courses in which you earned a “C-” or better. (4.00 = “A”)
Transfer credits

ASU accepts transfer credit for traditional coursework you have successfully completed at regionally accredited institutions of higher education.

To determine how your credits will transfer, use the Transfer Credit Guide, an online tool that allows you to search for course equivalencies. The guide contains thousands of courses from colleges and universities across the nation and their equivalent ASU courses. If your course isn’t in our database, you may submit a request to have it evaluated.
